

Living and working in Kalgoorlie for 25 years has profoundly influenced my commitment to this vibrant community. With 18 years' experience as a small business owner I have had the privilege of witnessing the resilience and strength of Kalgoorlie-Boulder. It's not just a place to reside, it's a place I cherish and work tirelessly to improve. Community involvement and representation are close to my heart. I firmly believe that those who understand the local dynamics and have deep-rooted connections can best represent the diverse views of our community. My goal is to be the bridge between the people of Kalgoorlie-Boulder and the decisions that shape our future. Kalgoorlie-Boulder is a unique blend of cultures, and it's crucial that we continue to foster an environment where everyone feels safe, valued, and respected. By promoting cultural unity, we can strengthen the bonds that hold our community together. I also see the importance of diversifying our local economy. We must explore and create sustainable economic opportunities that will benefit Kalgoorlie in the long term. A diverse economy not only provides job security but also attracts new residences and businesses, further enhancing our city's vitality. As someone deeply invested in the community, I will actively support and advocate for projects that enhance our city's visual appeal and functionality, making it an even more attractive place to live and visit. The people of Kalgoorlie have supported my business endeavours for many years, allowing me to give back by supporting various fundraising and sporting groups. I believe that our community deserves a strong voice committed to making Kalgoorlie an even better place to live, work, and thrive. I am easy to contact and open to hearing your concerns, ideas, and aspirations for our beloved Kalgoorlie. Together, we can shape a brighter future for our city, and I am excited to be a part of this journey.
